From the Southeast Library System Administrator, Brenda Ealey

[taken from SoLis, January/February 2010]

Nebraska Library Association Legislative Day (February 9th) was a great exercise in learning to recognize senators now that we have term limits in Nebraska. Governor Heineman addressed the group during the briefing with positive comments toward libraries and how we might play a part in the Nebraska P-16 Initiative. That initiative works to improve success rates for Nebraska students for preschool through college, with one of the goals being to increase the numbers of students going to two and four year colleges. He said he'd rather send more kids to libraries than have them on the streets, lauding computer labs and virtual classrooms as one method in addressing the problem of truancy. As you might expect he also led off with the Nebraska Legislature and Government not spending money they don't have.

Governor Heineman and Elizabeth Csipkes, an 8th Grader from Gretna, who was recognized as one of this year's library volunteers.

Scott Berryman, an Omaha attorney, who is also on the Eastern Library System Board, shared ideas on gaining influence with our elected officials.

Scott started working with the Legislature in 1998 and had some great information, including a quiz for finding the "most astute librarian." One of Scott's tips was to build a relationship with the policy advisors in the Governor's office, as well as continuing efforts to build relationships with senators from our own districts which includes time and money contributed to their campaigns.

Robin Clark, Chair of the NLA Legislative Committee recognized seven individuals from across the state for their volunteer contributions to Nebraska Libraries at the luncheon. Each were introduced by a senator from their district. ELS volunteers included:

Elizabeth Csipkes from Gretna recognized by Senator Scott Price.

Karen Tippets from Omaha recognized by Senator Brenda Council.

The afternoon continuing education program was on the Nebraska Memories Project. Nebraska Memories contains digitized images of Nebraska's history and culture in a collective, searchable Web database hosted by the Nebraska Library Commission. Devra Dragos and Beth Goble shared information on how materials could be added to the collection, as well as how to utilize the database. You can find detailed information on the types of materials accepted, scanning practices including letting NLC do the scanning and cataloging for you at: <http://memories.ne.gov/>

System News

Fremont

Ann Stephens announced that after being a librarian for thirty-seven years she will retire on April 16th. Ann is the director of Keene Memorial Library in Fremont, a position she has held for nineteen years. She is looking forward to traveling with her husband, spending time with her mother, buying a bicycle and, of course, reading. Ann also worked in medical libraries and the Blair and Omaha public libraries before going to Fremont. Ann has been in the midst of planning the temporary closure of Keene for a major construction project. She will be working hard to set up certain library services at other locations during construction prior to the closing.

Ann says she will definitely miss the people. "Everybody thinks a library is just about books, but it's not really, it's about people and getting people connected with what they need. I love that part of it."

Omaha Public Library

Gary Wasdin is the new director of the Omaha Public Library. The library also has a new logo, website and tagline - "Open Your World." Open houses were held at all twelve branches last month with approximately 5,800 people attending. Wasdin said, "We wanted a chance to celebrate and thank the community for their support in keeping the Florence branch from closing last year."

2010 MPLA Leadership Institute

Robin Clark, director of Sump Memorial Library in Papillion, was selected to attend the Mountain Plains Library Association 2010 Leadership Institute. It will be held in Estes Park, Colorado, April 25-30. Robin was one of thirty chosen to attend from over sixty-five applicants in a twelve state region. Marcia Dority Baker, University of Nebraska College of Law Schmid Library, was also selected.

Wahoo

Denise Lawver, director of the Wahoo Public Library, has been working with Saunders County Law Enforcement in obtaining a DakTech computer for the detainees at the Wahoo facility. Denise got a grant for more than $1,000 for the hardware. She also received a $500 grant from Eastern Library System to buy Spanish language books and educational supplies for the facility's library. The plan is for the inmates to use the computer when working on their GEDs and for job skills training. A law library database will also be available for research. In the futures, the computer will include GED testing and tutoring programs. Denise said, "I'm really proud of that library. My goal was to partner with the corrections facility and really expand our outreach services to those who are not able to physically come to the main library."

Poetry Trunk

Omaha Children's Museum received a grant from the National Endowment for the Arts to participate in the BIG READ for students across Nebraska. The poetry of Henry Wadsworth Longfellow is the topic of the BIG READ grant. The children's museum created trunks filled with poetry, crafts and items to study Longfellow's poetry. Each system received a trunk and we will loan it to you library or school. Each trunk has teacher guides, craft items and a magnetic poetry board. This would be a wonderful addition to a poetry unit or story time. There are enough Reader's Guides for students to keep one.

The trunk is available for check out for a three-week time period. Call or email ELS and reserve the trunk for your program. Using this resource will make poetry fun.

More System News

College of Saint Mary

The college was pleased to welcome their new library director, Sara Williams, whose duties began on March 1st. Sara will also be the Institutional Representative to ICON for the university.

Bellevue University

Effective March 1, 2010, Robin Bernstein, Library Director at Bellevue University, was promoted to Senior Director of Library Services. In addition to being responsible for library operations, Robin will oversee the Learning Assessment Center which consists of the Tutoring Center, Testing Center, and Experiential Learning Assessment.

Oakland Public Library

Joel Williamsen, author of Barrelhouse Boys, gave a presentation followed by a book signing to benefit the library on March 8th. The book is a mystery about a fatal Lincoln train wreck that might be connected to slaughterhouse riots in Omaha and Chicago's railroad strikes. This is a tale of mirth, romance and murder in Nebraska's state capital around 1894.

Grants Awarded

The Nebraska Library Commission recently awarded five public libraries "Library Improvement Grants" totaling $51,346. The following ELS libraries received grants:

- Bennington Public Library—$3,380 for technology-related improvements
- Keene Memorial Library—$3,930 for an emergent literacy program
- Omaha Public Library—$20,000 for "Welcome to Your Public Library" video for refugees

Author Tour

Last fall, Ellen Klages, author of "The Green Glass Sea," traveled across Nebraska on a tour of 18 schools and public libraries. Her visits spanned seven days, traveling 1,250 miles, autographing books and answering questions in front of nearly 1,200 children.

Summer Reading Program Workshop

Our biggest attendance ever! We were at capacity to over-flowing last month at our annual SRP event at Keene Memorial Library in Fremont. Fifty-eight children and youth services librarians, plus three presenters and Kathy & Nancy gathered the last Friday in February to hear author, James Solheim, introduce his new, hot-off-the-presses, book "Born Yesterday: The Diary of a Young Journalist." Those in attendance were privileged to be the first purchasers of his book.

Previewing Jim's book during his presentation

Colleen Mayo from AccuCut (die cutting machine) presented some interesting and new ideas to utilize in summer reading promotions and programs. Attendees entered a drawing for an AccuCut $75.00 gift certificate. The winner: Vera Kuhr, Mead Public Library.

Rounding out the day were Sally Snyder's (Nebraska Library Commission) book talks, lots of great door prizes and sharing of great ideas.

Showing their faces are—Linda Oyster and Julie Jorgensen, Waterloo Public Library

Resources For Youth Services Librarians & Media Specialists

Join CLICK!

CLICK is a group of librarians who serve children and young adults. The acronym stands for Children's Librarians and Information Coffee Klatch and was formed to give anyone who works with kids an opportunity to share information, discuss topics of interest, and network. The group meets four times a year at a host library from 9:30 to 11:30 am. While there have been times when the school librarian from the host community has attended, generally the attendees are from public libraries. We have discussed a variety of topics such as collection development, library policies dealing with children in the library, summer reading pros and cons, young adult book groups, and music in the library. Last month we toured the Early Childhood Training Center in Omaha.

One request heard here at the ELS office from both school and public librarians is that they would like more communication and how to work together more. This is happening in some communities, but it would be great to see networking going on in all communities. While it is more difficult for a school person to get time off, we would love to have school librarians attend the CLICK meetings. Please call the system office and ask to be put on the CLICK mailing list. In addition to finding out when and where CLICK meetings are, there is also a wealth of information that is shared online.

And yes, we do have coffee and goodies to eat so plan to attend the next CLICK meeting at:

The Bennington Public

Library on May 7th. We will be talking about story times (not Summer Reading) and everyone is invited to bring a story-time program and, if you would like, a "make and take" craft.

Tea Party Time

With the release of the movie Alice in Wonderland, now is a good time to host a Mad Hatter Tea Party. Start by reading chapter 7 aloud: "A Mad Hatter's Tea Party." Find great ideas at www.alice-in-wonderland.net/mad-tea-party-ideas.html. Be sure to tell your guests to "not be late for a very important date."

Comics Blog

Check out Good Comics for Kids at <http://www.schoollibraryjournal.com/blog/540000654.html>, a blog devoted to news and titles for younger readers.

[Children] read comics because they want to and you can't do any better than that. - Jeff Smith, creator of the Bone series.

Bringing Guys to the Library is the title of an great article in the February 2010 issue of VOYA. Boys don't read is a comment often made by both school librarians and librarians who work with teens in a public library setting. The authors of this article, one a school librarian and the other a public librarian offer some choices that should appeal to guys.

- We Were Here by Matt De la Peña
- Halo Encyclopedia, edited by Tobial Buckell
- Purple Heart by Patricia McCormick
- Punkzilla by Adam Rapp
- Ghosts of War: The True Story of a 19-Year-Old GI by Ryan Smithson
- Heroes of the Valley by Jonathan Stroud
- Babylon Boyz by Jess Mowry

Professional Collection Additions

DVD—College of Dupage Teleconference

Library Futures—Staying Ahead of the Curve: Millennials in the Library

The Millennial Generation, Generation Y, Echo Boomers, Digital Natives, and the Trophy Generation are all terms used to describe people born in the United States between the early 1980s and the early 1990s. They have been shaped by a heady mix of culture, politics, and technology. "Millennials" have had an unprecedented exposure to mass media, pop culture, instant communication, and cultural freedom woven together by a complex technological net. It is daunting to try to classify a group of over 70 million people easily. Our teleconference will seek to add nuance to these classifications to help us understand them more fully and answer the questions: Who are Millennials? How can our libraries better serve them as patrons, students, and staff? Presented by Jennifer Kushell.

4-set DVD—2009 Nebraska Book Festival—Nebraska Writers: Cultivating Creativity

Included is:

- Roundtable discussion panel with three Nebraska poets—William Kloefkorn, Dan Welch, and Ted Kooser.
- New Work in 2009: Readings by Nebraska Writers—Michael Forsberg, Allison Hedge Coke, and Harley Jane Kozak.
- 2009 Book Awards—Ted Kooser, et al.
- One Book One Discussion—A Lantern in Her Hand

For Your Information

Knitting @ the library

Karen Drevo, Children's Librarian at Norfolk, started a program in October - "Knit 1, Read Too!" They have knitters from beginners to expert and from age nine to senior citizens. Currently they have 40 in the group with an average attendance of 25. Participants show what they are working on and tell a bit about what they are currently reading. They share patterns, expertise, helpful hints, knitting books and websites, and where to buy yarn on sale. They have had fun building a knitting community that talks about books. Karen wants to share her idea with all libraries. "The more knitters/readers we have in the world, the more peaceful it will be."

One Book for Nebraska Teens

The Nebraska Library Commission gave book bags containing fourteen paperback copies of "Unwind" by Neal Shusterman to each regional library system. ELS also has copies of the book in our book bag collection. Librarians and students across the state are encouraged to read and discuss this book which tells of a future America where parents can choose to have their children "unwound." The 16-year-old boy in the story runs away when his parents tell him they decided to have him unwound (body parts harvested and given to others.) You can find discussion question, activities, puzzles and other information at: <http://www.nlc.state.ne.us/libdev/obonk.html> Contact the ELS office to reserve this book bag.

One Book One Nebraska 2010

The Nebraska Center for the Book selected "The Home Place" for Nebraska's statewide read to celebrate the 100th anniversary of the birth of Wright Morris. Morris is regarded as one of America's most gifted novelists and photographers. He received the National Book Award in 1957 for "The Field of Vision" and the American Book award in 1981 for "Plains Song."

The Lone Tree Literary Society, Nebraska Center for the Book, Nebraska Humanities Council, Nebraska Library Association, Nebraska library Commission and University of Nebraska Press are sponsors of activities throughout the year to highlight One Book One Nebraska. Materials for reading and discussion activities including a poster are available at:

http://centerforthebook.nebraska.gov/onebook/2010/get\_involved.htm

2010 Heartland School Library Conference

All school librarians in Nebraska will want to attend this conference that features nationally known speakers usually available only at big and expensive conferences. This event to be held June 14-15 at the W.H. Thompson Alumni Center at the University of Nebraska at Omaha costs only $50. The speakers are Cassandra Banett, President of the American Association of School Librarians, and Pam Berger, Publisher and Editor of Information Searcher magazine. More information and the registration form can be found at:

<http://heartlandslc.org>

Motion Picture Licensing

The Nebraska Library Commission has again funded a state-wide license for public viewing of motion pictures in Nebraska public libraries. This license is good through September 30, 2010. For more information go to:

Eastern Library System Board Meeting February 12, 2010 Elkhorn Branch, Omaha Public Library

Board Members Present: John Seyfarth, Robin Bernstein, Joyce Neujahr, Scott Berryman, Rosa Schmidt, David Privett, Lowen Kruse, Marie Reidelbach, Jan Therien, Nancy Meyer, Kathleen Tooker, and Dorothy Willis, Alternate Board member.

Guest: Wendy Anderson, Director of the Bess Johnson Elkhorn Branch, Omaha Public Library hosted the Eastern Library System Board. She has served as the library director for over 20 years. Wendy enlightened all of us with some of the community service activities the library provides for the city of Elkhorn. Especially noteworthy was the launch of the new brand recognition for the Omaha Public Library and its branches. The Elkhorn Branch was celebrating with a "wild west" theme. Visitors on Saturday, February 13 would enjoy craft activities, a costume contest, the Heartland Hoedowners clogging group, western cowboy music and a variety of other activities. Wendy said it best about the role of Public Libraries. "They need to be more than a book warehouse – they need to help communities". From what she shared it is obvious Wendy practices what she preaches.

The meeting was called to order by President, John Seyfarth.

Robin Bernstein motioned to approve the December 11, 2009, board meeting minutes, Rosa Schmidt seconded, and the minutes were approved as submitted.

The Treasurer's Report for December 2009 and January 2010 were distributed in advance of the meeting for review. The reports were approved to be filed for audit.

Kathy Tooker received one thank you letter from the Ralston Library Director, Francine Canfield, for funding the Children's Grant. Funds were to be used to purchase nonfiction books for non-readers.

Highlights from the Administrator's Report included:

- The Summer Reading Program workshop scheduled for February 26 at the Keene Memorial Library in Fremont has the largest number of registrants ever.
- Several Library Improvement Grants have been funded with one to the Omaha Public Library, Bennington Public Library, and the Keene Memorial Library.
- Two trustee training sessions will be offered in April with one scheduled in Wahoo.
- The Omaha Children's Museum created a Poetry Kit which can be checked out from the ELS Office.
- $1500 was secured from the Nebraska Library Commission for the Spring Colloquium in May. Plans are underway to secure Terry Pettit to speak on leadership and team building.
- Stimulus money is available from the Nebraska Library Commission through Broadband Grants.

Committee Reports:

- Nominating – Robin Bernstein reported that Scott Berryman, John Seyfarth, Joyce Neujahr, and Jan Therien agreed to continue on the board.
- Fundraising – Marie Reidelbach reported on fundraising activities since the last board meeting. Kathy Tooker gave an update of the proposed fundraising project for the upcoming year. She has pulled together a subcommittee to work on the project.
- Technology – John Seyfarth shared the postponed Technology Session will be held on March 12 in Papillion. He loaded Windows 7 on all the ELS computers including Kathy's laptop so she could work from home. It was suggested Windows 7 might be a good topic for the future.
- Continuing Education – Joyce Neujahr reported the committee has not met, but will be meeting soon to discuss the Spring Meeting. She along with Marty Magee will be putting on a Customer Service Workshop in the near future.

E. Advocacy - Scott Berryman attended Legislative Day and received rave reviews for his presentation from board members who heard him speak. The Governor attended the event which was a first. Lowen Kruse also shared his support of Legislative Day. He thought the volunteer awards presented over lunch had a positive impact on the Senators attending.

Old Business: None.

New Business: Lowen Kruse moved to approve the Audit for FY 2008-2009, Robin Bernstein seconded, and the audit was approved.

Announcements: Dorothy Willis announced that the Omaha Public Library, Friends of the Library Book Sale will be held on March 5-6 at the Swanson Branch on 90th and Dodge. Lowen Kruse received funds from Lozier's with the help of the Eastern Library System to give each Nebraska High School and College/University Library two copies of his book. One book will be given to the Library and the other copy to a designated faculty member. Robin Bernstein received a promotion and a new title "Senior Director of the Library". She will have new responsibilities assigned to her but will continue her role as the Bellevue University Library Director.

Minutes respectfully submitted by Marie Reidelbach, Secretary of the Eastern Library System.

NLM Ending Support for Go Local

The National Library of Medicine announced yesterday to Go Local sites that it was phasing down and ending support for the Go Local service due to Internet search engines doing a better job of delivering information to users. From the official message: "Since 2001, the National Library of Medicine has supported Go Local web sites across the United States. The goal of Go Local was to connect users to health services in their local communities. This seemed like a natural extension to MedlinePlus, which provides health information.... NLM is grateful to the hundreds of people whose time, labor, ideas and patience went into creating Go Local. For many years we could proudly point to Go Local as a unique and valuable service to so many people in this country."

The Go Local Nebraska team truly appreciates your support and hard work since it began in 2005. The Go Local Nebraska site will not close down at this time. We will keep you informed on the future of the Go Local Nebraska project through Year of CHIRS issues, and on the Go Local Nebraska blog: <http://golocalne.blogspot.com>.

CHIRS is 25 years young this year!

Since 1985, Nebraska Public Libraries and UNMC's McGoogan Library have partnered to deliver high-quality consumer health information.
